Are you finally ready? Accounting for Leases under ASC 842

The "new" lease standard has been in development for many years. Even though it was officially issued in 2016, only public entities have been required to-date to adopt. For everyone else, the standard will be adopted in the next year or two. This session will provide an overview of the new accounting standard with a focus on how it will impact leasees and the pitfalls that should be avoided. The session will cover transition approaches and likely changes to internal controls that need to be put into place.

Join us June 30 at 12pm EST as Tom Sneeringer, CPA - Partner, RSM US LLP addresses Lease Account Standard!

By the end of this course, you will be able to: a) Evaluate existing and new lease agreements and other contracts that contain a lease element for proper accounting and reporting treatment under Topic 842; and b) Identify processes and controls that may need to be updated for the new guidance/requirements for leases.

When: June 30 at 12pm EST
